VOLUME XLVII, NUMBER 20.

JUDGE JOHN P. PHILLIPS, lately retired from the Federal bench, in an address a few days ago, characterized the newspaper as a "false-hearted liar." Now, if this declaration had come from some erring member of society who had felt the correcting lash of the press, one might quote Hudibras in reply:

"No thief e'er felt the halter draw
With a good opinion of the law."
As it is, I, for one, am content to let an unprejudiced public judge both Judge and newspaper.

From the Salem Monitor of October 9th: "At public sale of the personal property of Mr. Collins, three miles southeast of Salem last Monday, a bunch of ten sheep sold for $7.75 per head, or $77.50 for the ten sheep. And that under a democratic administration. Isn't that a bad condition of affairs to come within 3 days after President Wilson signed the free wool tariff? And after a promise of fifty-cent or dollar sheep by our republican friends under free trade in wool? But I still stand with the Wilson-Bryan-McAdoo combination, with all kinds of free trade. One cow at the same sale brought $71, another sold for $25, and a small heifer calf sold for $21. Where all the $15 cows promised by our republican friends?"

FARMINGTON TIMES: "Congressman Walter L. Hensley of this district was home a few days the past week looking after some business interests here and in Arkansas. He has stuck close to his work during the long and strenuous fight for tariff revision and currency legislation of the special session, and only till the House had disposed of the latter measure and was sent to Senate, did he relax from his duties and take a few days off. He has won the distinction of being one of the most industrious committee workers and faithful attendants upon the sessions of the House among its members, and though well equipped for hard work he shows signs of his continuous labors. He left for Washington yesterday to again take up the grind and faithful service of his district."

Dr. Clark Enjoys Trip to Capitol.

Our most highly esteemed friend and fellow-citizen, Dr. J. P. Clark, says the Perryville Sun, is running over with Democratic enthusiasm since his return from New York and Washington City last week. Want of space prohibits us from going into details but we can give our readers a general outline only. The Doctor accompanied his daughter, Miss Iva, to New York, to enter one of the Universities in that city, and on his return came by way of Washington City, where he laid over three days. Here, the Doctor says, he was most royally received and entertained by our esteemed and popular Representative, Mr. Hensley, and his secretary, Mr. McCullom, who gave him their personal attention during his entire visit. He had the pleasure of an introduction to a number of the big Democratic leaders, among the number Speaker Clark, Hon. W. B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor, Hon. Oscar W. Underwood and others, by all of whom he was most kindly received. The Doctor further feels under lasting obligations to Congressman Russell of the 14th, and Congressman P. D. Decker of the Joplin district, for courtesies extended him during his visit.

On Monday morning, September 29, he was ushered into the presence of and introduced to the President of the United States, at the White House, by Mr. Hensley, where for the first time in his life the Doctor had the pleasure of a hearty hand-shake with a Democratic President. They conversed for about five minutes in simple, plain Democratic style, and the Doctor brought with him a verbal message of condolence and sympathy for the Rev. Killough of our city, whom the President remembers from his childhood days, and of whose late misfortune he was informed.

The doctor witnessed from the visitor's gallery, the House of Representatives in actual session and doing business for the country; he also enjoyed the pleasure and distinction of a twenty minute conversation with the estimable wife of Speaker Champ Clark, which the Doctor enjoyed very much.

The Doctor holds the firm opinion, founded upon what he saw and heard during his short visit, that President Wilson's administration is immensely popular with both Democratic and Republican members, and holds the confidence of an almost unanimous Congress.

Rests with the People.

Under the heading "Great Railroad's Progress" Leslie's Weekly makes the following comments: "That President Bush of the Missouri Pacific Railway system is strongly human is well known to those who have had intimate acquaintance with him and quite equally so to those who have even casually observed his conduct of the intricate affairs of the system of which he is President, aggregating about 11,000 miles of track—a distance equal to four times that involved in a trip from New York to London; or, if that is not impressive, then consider traveling continuously night and day at the rate of thirty miles per hour and not being able to cover the straightaway mileage of the railroad in fifteen days.

"President Bush, speaking for his directors, always says something worth while. He frankly tells the people of the thirteen States served by those lines to look out for their own prosperity by seeing to it that the railroad under astute management does not prosper then it is the fault of the very people whom it serves and who likewise suffer. There are many inviting bits of evidence of forethought in the annual report just published for the year ending June 30, 1913. It avers that, since without 'good citizenship' neither communities, large cities, States nor the United States can firmly stand—no more can a railroad. It makes the striking statement that the company during the past year expended over $29,000,000 in wages and it adds the pertinent comment: 'It is obvious that the beneficiaries of such disbursement should be ardent progressors and defenders in the solution of all these complex factors which go to make for our mutual and inseparable success.'"

We are still living under the lap of the Republican prosperity era, the times that the Democrats said were wrong and which they proposed to change as soon as they got back into power. Now they don't want them different, only they are beginning to steal the credit for them, and are calling it the era of Democratic prosperity. —Potosi Journal.

Phew! How the Democratic party has improved! Twenty years ago the election of a Democratic President created a panic six months before the election took place. And now, almost a year after the election of a Democratic President, and a new tariff law in effect, we are still "enjoying Republican prosperity." Surely we have progressed greatly.
